Seeking exceptional candidates

The Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering in the College of Engineering at Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa, invites applications for multiple tenure-track or tenured Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor faculty positions in the areas of electrical and computer engineering.

Responsibilities include:

- Undergraduate and graduate education
- Mentoring and engaging undergraduate and prospective students
- Developing and sustaining externally funded research
- Graduate student supervision and mentoring
- Professional and institutional service

The successful candidate will:

- Sustain his or her own research program and complement the current research and educational efforts in the ECpE department through interdisciplinary collaboration
- Teach courses at both the undergraduate and graduate levels
- Advise both undergraduate and graduate students
- Generate a scholarly publication record
- Participate in technical committees and outreach activities

Successful candidates must hold an earned Ph.D. or equivalent degree in electrical engineering, computer engineering, computer science, or closely related field, on or before the hire date. Candidates must have two years of experience teaching undergraduate students. Exceptional candidates with commensurate experience and a proven track record will be considered for Associate or Full Professor levels.

Preferred education and experience includes working with and/or teaching diverse groups and a demonstrated ability to enhance existing strategic research areas, including Data, Decisions, Networks and Autonomy; Energy Infrastructure; and Materials, Devices, and Circuits.

All are expected to exhibit and convey good citizenship within the department, college, and university activities and collegial interactions and maintain the highest standards of integrity and ethical behavior.
